Campers at the Academy will take part in theatre games, improv exercises and acting exercises. They will also learn about auditioning procedures, stage conduct, and some technical skills. The program concludes with a special performance on stage that family and friends are invited to attend.

Jessica Surdyk, who directed the Academy's popular productions of Seussical and Willy Wonka, will oversee the program this year. "This is the age where theatre begins," she says enthusiastically, "where it can be introduced as the fun, creative outlet every child needs."
